OF POPULAR MODERN LITERATURE.

Comprising Voyages and Travels, Popular History and Biography, and Works of an interesting miscellaneous Character, relating to Adventure and Enterprise.

The First Volume contains

MAXWELL'S WILD SPORTS OF THE WEST,

Complete, with Fifteen Engravings, price 6s.

"This is one of those amusing productions which possess interest for readers of every class, and particularly acceptable to those who take delight in sports by flood and field."—Literary Gazette.

"The 'Wild Sports of the West' are the best—the only genuine picture of modern society in the far wilds of Connemara. They are written with the gusto of the sportsman, the graphic power of the man of the world, and the sympathy of a genuine good fellow. There is no melo-dramatic clap-trap about them: they have the genuine potteen flavour. The Colonel, Hennessey, the Otter Fisher, are sketches from life by the hand of a master. The book is well worth a hundred reports from stupid Parliamentary Commissioners or Committee-men. It is Connemara itself."—Glasgow Argus.

The Second Volume, now ready, contains

WASHINGTON IRVING'S ASTORIA,

Complete, with Portrait of the Author, price 6s.

"The most finished narrative of a series of interesting adventures that ever was written. 'Astoria' we rate as the chef d'œuvre of Washington Irving. It is capitally adapted for presents."—Spectator.

"This is a story of discovery, — of peril by sea and in the wilderness, — of strange passages and melancholy hardships, gathered from the unadorned statements of the wanderers themselves, and woven together with that happiness and sincerity of manner which characterise Mr. Irving. As a fireside book, for a general circle, we have met with nothing likely to prove so acceptable."—Athenæum.

THE SUCCEEDING VOLUMES OF THIS SERIES WILL INCLUDE

GLEIG'S TRADITIONS OF CHELSEA COLLEGE;

G. P. R. JAMES'S HISTORY OF CHIVALRY;

GALT'S LIFE OF BYRON, with new Notes and Illustrations;

ROOKWOOD: A ROMANCE.

BY W. H. AINSWORTH, ESQ.

"The author of Rookwood has shown talents which will, no doubt, produce a strong and fervid strain of romance. We expect much from this writer. He evidently possesses, in no common degree, the materials of success—a fresh and stirring fancy. His story is one that never flags."—Quarterly Review.

"Mr. Ainsworth has certainly produced, in his Rookwood, a work indicating very considerable powers and resources. The experiment was a bold one; but its success is evinced by the fact that the edition, which lies before us, is the fourth. What Mr. Ainsworth has ventured to do, and successfully, was to revive the almost exploded interest afforded by the supernatural; and to preserve this, too, not in connection with days long gone by, but side by side with the sober realities of 1737,—with the convivialities of Yorkshire squires and country attorneys, with the humours of justices of the peace, and the feats of Dick Turpin the highwayman. The reader is never allowed to pause for an instant—he is hurried on with breathless haste, and with vivid curiosity, from the charnel house to the blood-stained family secrets of the old hall—to the gipsy's encampment, to the haunts of highwaymen, to the pursuit from London to York, and through a series of the strangest encounters, discoveries, plots, and counter-plots, murders, and disclosures. Besides the general strength of conception which Rookwood evinces, and the deep interest of particular scenes—such as the celebrated Highwayman's Ride to York—it contains a good many ballads, chiefly of a ghostly and sepulchral nature, though interspersed with some ditties in a livelier vein, both indicating poetical abilities of no mean order. 'Rookwood' is unquestionably a work of remarkable interest, and of very considerable ability."—Edinburgh Review.

PART THE SECOND.

"These volumes are full of information and anecdote." — Times.

"We have seldom met with a more industrious or intelligent traveller than Mr. Elliott. His work is extremely well written, and is full of facts. That portion of his volumes which treats of the land of the Redeemer is marked by a lively spirit of historical research and scriptural allusion, which must render it equally interesting to the classic as the general reader." — Morning Chronicle.

INCIDENTS OF TRAVEL IN THE HOLY LAND, EGYPT, EDOM, ARABIA, &c.

BY J. L. STEPHENS, ESQ.

New Edition, with Additions. Two Volumes, price 15s.

"Two very pleasant volumes. There is not a wearisome page in the whole work: such, indeed, is the spirit of the Author's descriptions, and the vivid force and truth of his narrative, that reading his book is like accompanying him on his route, and the reader grows at last to take a personal interest in his adventures. The style, too, is excellent; unaffected and unpretending, with the flavour and freshness of conversation." — Athenæum.

RICHARD BENTLEY, NEW BURLINGTON STREET,

TRAVELS AND ADVENTURES DURING A RESIDENCE IN NEW ZEALAND.

From the Year 1831 to 1837.

BY J. S. POLACK, ESQ.

Two Volumes, 8vo., with numerous Illustrations. Price 28s.

"The best work that has yet been written concerning New Zealand. It cannot fail to be considered of importance, for it has the merit of being written with every characteristic of truth, and is, from beginning to end, fact. There is much interesting matter in Mr. Polack's work for the merchant and politician, as well as for the general reader." — Morning Herald.

"The attention just now directed towards New Zealand as a field for colonisation, gives great interest to Mr. Polack's work. It furnishes a very good idea of the present condition and capability of New Zealand; including its extent, productions, harbours, rivers, climate, &c., and conveys a living picture of the customs, manners, morals, and character of the natives; including their aptitude for civilisation, and amalgamating with European blood. The narrative of the journey undertaken by the author into the interior of the country presents one of the best pictures of savage life and character that we ever remember to have read: while by its distinct truth it enables the reader to form a very capital notion of the native society of New Zealand, and the general features of the country." — Spectator.

THREE MONTHS' LEAVE.

Comprising

A VISIT TO TURKEY, HUNGARY, AND AUSTRIA.

BY W. G. ROSE, ESQ., 60th Rifles.

One Volume, 10s. 6d.

"A capital travelling companion." — Atlas.

"A smart soldier's journal of a pleasant trip undertaken on furlough—the beginning of which is Corfu, the end Brussels—with glimpses of Constantinople and Vienna, the wretchedness of quarantine, the becoming costumes of Hungary, the pleasures of Pest, and other travellers' wonders." — Athenæum.

THE CITY OF THE CZAR.

BY THOMAS RAIKES, ESQ.

One Vol. 8vo., price 12s.

"This book contains very curious and interesting pictures of Russian society. It is a perfect magazine of anecdotes, and we really know not where we have met with so many amusing, and so new. Those who love this most entertaining kind of reading, in which history condescends to talk a little scandal, had better look to the work itself. It is written in the form of letters; these letters are as good as Wraxall's, and must find a place in all libraries, along with Walpole, Madame Sevigné, and Grimm,—the most easy and pleasant, perhaps the most authentic, histories we have." — Times.

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION.

LAMARTINE'S PILGRIMAGE TO THE HOLY LAND, SYRIA, &c.

THE POETRY METRICALLY RENDERED BY MISS LANDON.

In Three Vols. small 8vo., with Portrait of the Author, price 15s.

"Lamartine's European reputation will be infinitely heightened by these delightful volumes." — Quarterly Review.

"This beautiful Work is descriptive of scenes certainly never before depicted with so much eloquence and feeling." — Blackwood's Magazine.

VIENNA AND THE AUSTRIANS.

BY MRS. TROLLOPE,

Author of "Paris and the Parisians," "The Vicar of Wrexhill," &c.

In Two Vols., 8vo., with Fourteen Engravings by Hervieu.

"An extremely entertaining work. Mrs. Trollope contrived to see a great deal of the best society in Vienna, and we have no hesitation in saying that she has done more than any other writer in throwing a light upon the splendour and gaiety of that important city." — John Bull.

"Mrs. Trollope has here contrived to blend, with consummate ease and skill, all the best requisites of a traveller—wit and sarcasm, humour and pathos, and an acute knowledge of the world. This new work furnishes abundant evidence that the writer has thoroughly digested her materials—that she has adopted no opinions hastily, or from prejudice. Her sketch of Prince Metternich is as graphic, and as full of mark and likelihood, as that of Falkland by Old Clarendon. Equally life-like are her curious details of the working of the social system in Vienna." — Standard.

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION.

A VOYAGE ROUND THE WORLD, DURING THE YEARS 1835, 36, AND 37;

INCLUDING A NARRATIVE OF AN EMBASSY TO THE SULTAN OF MUSCAT AND THE KING OF SIAM.

BY W. S. W. RUSCHENBERGER, M.D., Surgeon to the Expedition.

New Edition, in Two Volumes, 8vo., with Plates. Price 1*l.* 1*s.*

"There is an ample fund of original, useful, and entertaining matter in this work." — Atlas.
 "This work contains much valuable information connected with the manners and customs of the various countries visited, told in an agreeable and entertaining manner." — Literary Gazette.
 "This voyage was undertaken in the ship Peacock. The hardy adventurers who composed the officers and crew visited Zanzibar, the dominions of the Sultan of Muscat, Hindostan, Ceylon, Java, Siam, Cochin-China, China, the Bonin Islands, the Sandwich Islands, California, Mexico, &c. Of all these countries the sketches are very minute and interesting; and we do not hesitate to say that the details connected with the scenery, institutions, society, and domestic life, in that almost terra incognita, the celestial empire, are much fuller than any yet given to the European world. — Naval and Military Gazette.

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION.

A RESIDENCE IN CONSTANTINOPLE, DURING A PERIOD FROM THE COMMENCEMENT, PROGRESS, AND TERMINATION OF THE GREEK AND TURKISH REVOLUTIONS.

BY THE REV. R. WALSH, LL.D.,

Second Edition, Two Volumes, 8vo., neatly bound in cloth, embellished with numerous Engravings, 2*l.*s.

By the same Author,

NARRATIVE OF A JOURNEY FROM CON- STANTINOPLE TO ENGLAND.

Fifth Edition, One small Volume, neatly bound, price 6*s.*

"There are few travellers we could more willingly accompany than Dr. Walsh. He possesses an inexhaustible fund of good-humour and veracity, a keen eye for observation, and a great quickness in seeing the features of a country. He possesses spirit and vivacity, and is everywhere the same." — Athenæum.
 "Dr. Walsh is doubtless known to our readers as a lively and entertaining writer, who has seen a deal of countries seldom seen or visited. His present work contains much to interest the reader. It has powerfully recalled our attention to times and occurrences which must not be lost sight of. It contains, moreover, a variety of miscellaneous information about the manners and customs of the various nations inhabiting Constantinople. He may be depended on as a quick and curious observer, with considerable powers of description. Dr. Walsh's pages are full of anecdotes, possessing a painful and powerful interest, respecting the individual fortunes of families implicated in the calamities of the revolution, many of which are highly creditable to his own goodness of heart and courage." — Edinburgh Review.

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION.

ADVENTURES DURING A JOURNEY OVERLAND TO INDIA, BY WAY OF EGYPT, SYRIA, THE HOLY LAND, AND MESOPOTAMIA.

BY MAJOR SKINNER, 31st Regiment,

Author of "Excursions in India," &c.

Two Volumes, post 8vo., with Portrait of the Author, &c., price 12*s.*

"We have rarely met with a more agreeable book of travels than this." — Examiner.
 "The reputation Major Skinner acquired by his 'Excursions in India' will be increased by the present work, which is the most charming book of travels that the year has produced." — Spectator.

RICHARD BENTLEY, NEW BURLINGTON STREET,

RESIDENCE OF THE PERSIAN PRINCES IN LONDON, IN 1835 AND 1836, WITH AN ACCOUNT OF THEIR JOURNEY FROM PERSIA, AND SUBSEQUENT ADVENTURES.

BY JAMES BAILLIE FRASER, ESQ.,

Author of "The Kuzzilbash," "The Persian Adventurer," &c.

New Edition, in Two Volumes, post 8vo., with Portraits of the Princes, &c. 16s.

"From the subject and from the author we certainly anticipated an entertaining publication; but we had no idea that even the latter could have made the former so very curious, as well as so very amusing and interesting." — Literary Gazette.

"These volumes are a very delightful publication, — vivacious, characteristic, curious, and various. They exhibit human nature under a new aspect, showing the effect which civilisation produces upon the minds of Oriental Princes when suddenly brought in contact with its results and customs for the first time; and in this way, as it were, a double mirror is held up, in which we can see reflected both ourselves and them. They strongly and strikingly display the Persian, superadded to the Oriental character, and that with a fullness and closeness which has never yet been done, and which circumstances may never allow again. There is no sameness, for each of the three princes is as complete an idiosyncrasy as if he had been purposely drawn by a dramatic poet. Neither will the reader complain of any lack of amusement, the incidents and adventures being of the most novel and various description." — Spectator.

EXCURSIONS IN THE ABRUZZI AND NORTHERN PROVINCES OF NAPLES.

BY THE HON. KEPPEL CRAVEN.

Two Volumes, 8vo., price 24s.

"This work can scarcely fail to be read with pleasure. Every page sparkles with names suggesting agreeable associations, or supplying new facts to fill up deficiencies in the traveller's note-book. The ground over which Mr. Craven has passed is not a portion of that high road on which our English travellers are wont to play the game of follow my leader, tracing each other servilely by the track, performing the same feats, taking the same leaps, and playing the same antics; or (to drop the metaphor) seeing the same sights, and overlooking the same things. To very many the scenes described will be perfectly new. We take leave of Mr. Keppel Craven with hearty good wishes for the success of his work, and that when he again rides forth on his Excursions 'we may be by to see,' " — Athenæum.

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION.

PARIS AND THE PARISIANS.

New Edition, with a new Preface, and Fourteen Characteristic Engravings by Hervieu,
In Two Volumes, 8vo., bound in cloth, 17. 4s.

"We advise everybody who wishes to be amused and instructed to read this work. It is ably and delightfully written." — John Bull.

NARRATIVE OF THE LAST EXPEDITION INTO CENTRAL AFRICA; INCLUDING A STEAM VOYAGE UP THE NIGER.

BY MACGREGOR LAIRD AND R.A.K. OLDFIELD,

Surviving Officers of the Expedition.

Two Volumes, 8vo., with Map and numerous Plates, price 28s.

"This work is as useful to the merchant as it is to the politician, and the general reader cannot do better than refer to it. There are few works which will amuse or instruct him more, where he will find a narrative so novel and interesting, or authors more intelligent." — Times.

"At length we have a book of real travels, embracing scenes of danger, privation, hardship, death; full of novelty, variety, character; and not less remarkable for the spirited determination with which the enterprise was carried through, than for the information gained as to the social and political condition of the interior of Africa, and the commercial speculations which that information suggests." — Spectator.

"Unlike any book of travels in prose that exists in any European language. Some immortal passages in Gray's Letters and Byron's Diaries are the only things that come near the picturesque descriptions, at once true and startling, of these extraordinary pages. The work will henceforth be classed among the most elegant productions of modern literature, and will keep Mr. Beckford's name alive for centuries." — Quarterly Review.

NEW HISTORICAL AND BIOGRAPHICAL WORKS.

"Mr. Tyler has brought much excellence of design and execution to his task. He has consulted with great care the best sources of information, more particularly the legal records of the period of which he writes. We cannot refrain from bearing testimony to the author's desire to be correct and impartial. We strongly recommend the work to the attention of our readers." — Literary Gazette.

WITH BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES OF ALL THE DISTINGUISHED PERFORMERS.

By GEORGE HOGARTH, Esq., Author of "The History of Music."

Two Volumes, neatly bound, with numerous portraits. Price 1*l.* 1s.

"This work is executed with much taste and skill. Mr. Hogarth has not only the scientific knowledge requisite for the treatment of his subject, but the thorough relish or gusto, without which, in matters of this sort, science is of little value. Numerous characteristic and interesting details and anecdotes, bearing on the subject, are pleasantly introduced, and throw a genial light on the chief persons connected with it." — Examiner.

"Very amusing and instructive volumes, which, besides being a fund of pleasant reading, reflect the highest credit on the taste and ability of the author. Mr. Hogarth delights in his subject; and, by his manner, makes it impossible for his readers not to delight in it also. We wish him all the popularity for his work to which its pleasant contents and his own congenial spirit entitle it." — Atlas.

"This book is a credit to the country of the author, and will, as an historical production, create an era in its literary history." — Times.

"Too much credit cannot be given to Mr. Prescott for the manner in which he has executed his laborious and important task. This work is a valuable history, without which no historical library can be complete." — Literary Gazette.

"A work which, whether for industry or ability, cannot easily be surpassed; it is, in fact, one of the most pleasing, as well as most valuable, contributions to modern history. Certain we are that no historical library can dispense with it, for it is the only work which gives us a faithful and sufficient picture of a period so momentous as the latter half of the fifteenth century." — Athenæum.

"A great quantity of curious and useful information is crowded into this book. We are not aware of any similar publication which is so comprehensive in so small a compass, so full of matter, and brief in form. The whole is collected with considerable care, and enriched with anecdotes and historical memoranda of permanent interest. It forms a valuable companion to our peerage and baronetage books, which it illustrates by a body of facts essential to the complete development of our aristocratic institutions."—Atlas.

RICHARD BENTLEY, NEW BURLINGTON STREET,

THIERS'S HISTORY OF THE FRENCH REVOLUTION.

Now PUBLISHING IN MONTHLY VOLUMES, price 10s. each (to be completed in Five Volumes), embellished with upwards of Forty exquisite Engravings by GREATBACH, including Portraits of the most distinguished and notorious Characters, and Views of all the great Events which occurred during that memorable epoch.

* * * Vols. I., II., and III. are now ready.

"M. Thiers has acquired great reputation as an historian. His 'History of the French Revolution' has become a standard work, and needs no eulogy. The edition of it now in course of publication by Mr. Bentley is worthy of the original. It is enriched by useful notes and striking illustrations, and will prove a very valuable addition to our literature." — Courier.

"A translation of M. Thiers's History is a work that has long been wanted. It is unquestionably the best that has yet appeared on the subject of the French Revolution, being shrewd, dispassionate, and scrupulously accurate in its details. We are glad, therefore, to see this edition, which is very ably rendered, and has the additional advantage of being copiously illustrated with notes, and anecdotal reminiscences illustrative of the private and public characters of the early leaders of the Revolution. We are all of us intimate with the names of Mirabeau, Danton, Egalité, Robespierre, Marat, &c., but few of us know anything about their private characters: the present work supplies this deficiency. The various secondary causes that helped to precipitate the fearful struggle are also glanced at; and the work is embellished with striking engravings by Greatbach. Thus recommended, we will not permit ourselves to doubt for an instant of the success of this work." — Sun.

From the RESTORATION of CHARLES II. to the PRESENT TIME.

By THE AUTHOR OF "MADAME DU DUFFAND'S LETTERS."

New Edition, Two Volumes, 8vo., 14s.

"A clever and agreeable work." — Quarterly Review, February, 1836.

"By Miss BERRY, the accomplished friend and correspondent of Horace Walpole. It is a most interesting work. Views of society as entertaining as they are just; individual character drawn most vividly; clear, correct observations; and a mass of anecdote and information: — such are the grounds on which we give these volumes our cordial praise. At present they are delightful; a few years hence they will be invaluable." — Literary Gazette.

The work comes forth under the fostering care of Lord Wharncliffe,—Lady Mary's great-grandson,—who has been enabled to add many original letters, and introduce the whole by some pleasant biographical anecdotes."—Athenæum.

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION.

SIR N. WILLIAM WRAXALL'S POSTHUMOUS MEMOIRS OF HIS OWN TIME.

In Three Volumes, 8vo., with numerous Portraits, 1l. 4s.

"We are well pleased, and sure we are the reading public will be well pleased, again to meet the gossiping, amusing, anecdote-telling Sir N. William Wraxall, whose foreign travel, and intimacy with leading persons in most walks of life at home, enabled him to pick up so much intelligence, and whose talents were so peculiarly adapted to the task of communicating, in an agreeable and entertaining manner, the intelligence he acquired. These anecdotal volumes singularly illustrate the affairs and actors of the generation which has just passed away. All that relates to Caroline Matilda, Queen of Denmark, to which the Appendix furnishes documentary evidence, is historically important; but the whole is a work which entirely belongs to our literature, where it will long find a prominent place. The engravings which adorn the work add to its interest. The Duchesses of Devonshire and Gordon grace the last of them. The Prince, the Duchess of Rutland, Mr. Fox, and Mr. Pitt, the preceding two."—Literary Gazette.

NEW WORKS OF FICTION.

MELTON DE MOWBRAY; OR, THE BANKER'S SON.

Three Volumes, post 8vo., price Twenty-four Shillings.

"There is considerable power and a close observation of life manifested in this work. The description of London life at the period of Pitt, Fox, and Sheridan (whose portraits are sketched with a vigorous hand), is remarkable for its fidelity and liveliness. It is a very clever story."—Atlas.

"In this novel we are introduced to Fox, Sheridan, the Duke of Norfolk, and many other of the more celebrated frequenters of Brookes's in the year 1791, the date of the tale. The sketches of these eminent individuals display much graphic skill. 'Melton de Mowbray' is a vivid and skilful picture of fashionable life in London about thirty or forty years since."—Sun.

LAND SHARKS AND SEA GULLS.

BY CAPTAIN GLASCOCK, R.N.,

Author of "The Naval Sketch Book," "Tales of a Tar," &c.

Price Twenty-four Shillings.

"A work of first-rate merit, full of humour, and replete with incidents which show a general understanding of mankind."—John Bull.

"We heartily recommend this novel to our readers. It abounds in characteristic sketches, done, doubtless, from originals, with a dry and biting touch of satire."—Morning Chronicle.

"A very well-written and well-continued story; it abounds in pathos and in delineations of character and manners, sufficient of themselves to excite interest, independently of the peculiar humour of the narrative. It is the most amusing book with which Capt. Glascock has yet delighted the public."—The Times.

ZENOBIA, QUEEN OF THE EAST;

OR, LETTERS FROM PALMYRA. Two Volumes, Fifteen Shillings.

"This work will be acceptable to the many readers who took delight in Bulwer's 'Last Days of Pompeii.'"—Athenæum.

"The city of Palmyra is here brought palpably before us in all its rich and lustrous beauty. We are brought into the streets, and mix with the people—we witness the combats—enter the palace and converse with Zenobia—banquet with Gracchus—mount the chariot with Fausta, and completely see the life of the place."—Atlas.

By the same Author,

THE LAST DAYS OF AURELIAN;

OR, THE NAZARENES OF ROME. Two Volumes, Twelve Shillings.

"This new romance is, in our opinion, even superior to 'Zenobia.' The events described are more diversified; and the mutations which attended the faith and fortunes of the Nazarenes—their hopes, progress, and persecutions—impart a stirring additional interest to the narrative."—Literary Gazette.

"This work claims a high rank in the class of fiction to which it belongs. The striking delineation of character, and the touching interest that pervade it, as well as its high and sustaining moral purpose, should cause it to be remembered beyond the hour."—Courier.

"The best of Mr. Cooper's tales." — Atlas.

"The author of 'The Pilot' has once again pushed off into blue water, and is again the hearty, vigorous man, 'roughing it' on the wild element which has been his nursing mother. 'Homeward Bound' is one of his capital sea-novels. The liveliness of its painting, and the interest it excites, place its author at the head of the fleet of fiction-weavers." — Athenæum.

THE NAVAL FOUNDLING ; OR, TOPSAIL SHEET - BLOCKS.

BY "THE OLD SAILOR,"

Author of "Tough Yarns," "Land and Sea Tales," "Nights at Sea," &c.

Three Volumes, with Illustrations by GEORGE CRUIKSHANK. Twenty-four Shillings.

"This tale is full to overflowing of various incident. In the rough vigour of its descriptions, it reminds us more forcibly of Michael Scott's 'Tom Cringle's Log,' than any naval novel that has been published since that time." — Sun.

RORY O'MORE. BY S. LOVER, ESQ.,

Author of "Legends and Stories of Ireland," &c.

New Edition, in three Volumes, post 8vo., with Fifteen Illustrations by the Author, price Fifteen Shillings.

"A truly Irish, national, and characteristic story." — Literary Gazette.

"Amongst the works of fiction that have lately appeared, we must in fairness give the palm to Mr. Lover's 'Rory O'More,' which is full of the broadest Irish humour, mixed with beautiful imagery, and the rich fruits of a truly poetical mind." — John Bull.

THE VICAR OF WREXHILL.

BY MRS. TROLLOPE,

Author of "Tremordyn Cliff," "Vienna and the Austrians," &c.

Second Edition, in Three Volumes, post 8vo., with numerous Illustrations by Hervieu, price Twenty-four Shillings.

"A singularly clever work. The conduct of the story is capitally arranged, and the events are extraordinarily striking and real." — Times.

"Mrs. Trollope is one of the most eminent female writers of the day. The skill displayed by her in the construction of this story is worthy of all admiration, and not less deserving of praise is the manner in which it is evolved, and the consistent and perfect portraiture, especially in the case of the principal personage, which constitutes its groundwork. We do not know that we have ever read any work of fiction superior to 'The Vicar of Wrexhill.' Never, certainly, have we met with a more able, a more ingeniously conducted exposure of canting hypocrisy,—never met with a more perfect, a more striking delineation of sanctimonious villany, than is presented in the history of the character and proceedings of the smooth-tongued, knavish vicar himself." — Scotsman.

"THE MERCHANT'S DAUGHTER," "THE HEIRESS," &c.

Three Volumes, price Twenty-four Shillings.

"A very clever and attractive novel." — Athenæum.
"A story of deep and tender interest, well-conceived and well-developed, rich in touching scenes, full of striking portraiture and foreground episodes of strong, powerful painting; a novel, in short, that cannot fail to arrest the attention and to keep it alive, to amuse and to excite. Few will lay it down without having become debtors to the author for a large harvest of delight." — Courier.

EDITED BY CHARLES DICKENS, ESQ. ("BOZ.")

NEW AND CHEAPER EDITION.

In Two Volumes, post 8vo., with Portrait, and Twelve Characteristic Illustrations by GEORGE CRUIKSHANK, price Fifteen Shillings.

M E M O I R S O F J O S E P H G R I M A L D I , T H E C L O W N .

EDITED BY "BOZ,"

Author of "Oliver Twist," "The Pickwick Papers," &c.

"Mr. Dickens has prefaced his work with an introductory chapter, which gives a Pickwick description of a boy's relish of a pantomime, and not unpleasantly marshals us 'the way that we are going.' The work is written in an amiable spirit, and shows a true-hearted, excellent man, and great actor, in many pleasing lights. The sketches by George Cruikshank are capital, full of character, spirit, and fun." — Athenæum.

"This at once amusing and interesting work is imbued with both the comic humour and the fine natural feeling and pathos of Mr. Dickens, whilst at the same time it is the accurate transcript of poor Grimaldi's own materials. It has brought the peerless of clowns vividly back to our mind's eye, with a thousand associations of pleasure and laughter holding both her sides." — Literary Gazette.
